Staff, Lecturer and Researcher Positions

Under USCIS regulations employers can only sponsor 'permanent' positions for permanent residency. At UC Berkeley that includes, with department approval, tenure-track faculty (including LPSOE and LSOE positions). Postdoctoral Scholar (postdoc) and Project Scientist appointments at UC Berkeley are not eligible for permanent residency sponsorship because these positions are temporary and have fixed end dates. Other positions may qualify based on the requirements below. NOTE: In addition, these positions also require the approval of the appropriate Dean or Vice Chancellor or designee as well as the Director of BIO.

- Both the employee and department intend for the employment to continue indefinitely.
- Funding for the position must be available for at least three years (if not a permanent staff position).
- There is a reasonable expectation that funding will continue beyond the three years (if applicable).
- The position serves an important or critical role in the department or unit.
- The position would be difficult to fill based on the job requirements and/or the qualifications of the employee.

In submitting this form I agree to the above provisions. I also agree to provide the documents and support letter(s) that are required for the University to file for labor certification/permanent resident status for the international employee identified above. In addition, we have reviewed and understand that we will bear the cost of all fees associated with this application which the employer is required to cover." Information about fees can be found at http://internationaloffice.berkeley.edu/ucb_departments/permanent_residents/fees
